

SCIENTIFIC AND TECHNICAL WORKSHOP OF THE DATA BUOY COOPERATION PANEL

Venue: Weihai, China

Date 27 October 2014

The Scientific and Technical Workshop preceding the annual Data Buoy Cooperation Panel (DBCP) meetings has become an important forum for stimulating discussion among data buoy operators, designers, and data users. The thirtieth session of the DBCP (DBCP-30) will be organized the DBCP and hosted by the WMO-IOC Regional Marine Instrument Centre (RMIC) for the Asia Pacific region (RMIC/AP), which is operated by the State Oceanic Administration (SOA) National Center of Ocean Standards and Metrology (NCOSM), Tianjin, China.

The workshop will be held in Weihai, China and begin at 9h30 on Monday, 27 October 2014. It will end on the same day. Full details of arrangements for DBCP-30 will be forthcoming in a separate mailing.

1. PURPOSE OF THE WORKSHOP

The interest and participation of oceanographic and marine meteorological experts in the activities of the DBCP is high. The DBCP Scientific and Technical Workshop presents an ideal opportunity for scientists, operators, and manufacturers to relate their experiences, to exchange knowledge, and to build on or learn from the innovations, developments and good practices of their peers.

2. WORKSHOP THEMES

The theme of the Workshop will be “Buoy Science, Technology, and Instrumentation”. Presentations will be welcome in the following areas:

- Marine meteorological and oceanographic instrumentation, calibration, and traceability
- Technical development
- Operational Enhancements
- Marine Forecast and Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR)
- Research Applications

Material presented at the Workshop may be sourced from any part of the globe, but topics of relevance to the Asia Pacific region are particularly welcomed.

3. WORKSHOP FORMAT

3.1 The Workshop will begin following the official opening of DBCP-30, at 9:30 on 27 September 2014, and will continue until approximately 18:00 on the same day. Each presentation will be allocated twenty minutes, which includes five minutes for questions and discussion. Any presenter requesting any change to this format should do so at the time of submitting the paper abstract.

3.2 A laptop PC with projector, as well as overhead projector for viewgraphs, will be provided. Special audio-visual requirements should be communicated to the Workshop Coordinators when the abstract is submitted.

4. SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACTS AND PAPERS AND PRESENTATION MATERIALS

4.1 Those of you interested in making presentations at the workshop are invited to submit an abstract(s) to the Workshop Coordinators with summaries of your presentations before 31 July 2014. After consideration of the abstracts, the Workshop Coordinators will notify presenters of their acceptance, and will invite the submission of a draft presenter schedule. Please note that all presenters will be required to submit full papers by 15 September 2014, in order to publish the Workshop proceedings in due course.

4.2 As a guide, abstracts should be of no more than 200 words, indicating the nature of the presentation or paper, and its key findings or significance. An abstract of all presentations is required for inclusion in the programme.
